

SDIEA: WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

In the late 90's with youth unemployment at just over 12%, local educators and business owners formed the Southern Downs Industry Education Association (SDIEA).

Developed to organise, monitor and build on structured workplace learning in our community as part of Vocational Education and Training in Schools, SDIEA's founding members wanted to keep a skilled workforce in our community.

Over the past 20 years, SDIEA have broadened our scope, but kept our focus.

Now offering alternative education, youth support programs, work experience and structured workplace learning, mentoring, career and transition support, we are proud to be the first step for many people on their road to long term success.

We focus on giving our clients the opportunity to:

Learn to know - mastering learning tools.

Learn to do – equipping clients for the types of work needed now and in the future

Learn to live and work with others –resolve conflict, respect other people and their cultures, building community connections, building individual ability and capability.

Learn to be – education and support contributing to our clients complete development

How does it work?

Since our foundation, we have been focused on working with our clients, to help achieve educational and employment goals.

At SDIEA we provide support and services on a one to one basis. Our program delivery team identify barriers and assist clients to determine their own pathway.

We provide professional and personal support to participants during and after their (qualification/training) completion. By providing career support and mentoring to make sure all clients move smoothly from school to further studies or a job, they can have a real chance at a fulfilled life.

Who is it for?

Our clients come from across the Southern Downs region.

Mostly aged between 15 and 65, they are looking to improve their life, education and job skills.
