About Us

School and you might not have been a good fit. Or it might have been a while since you had a job. Or you might want a different job, but don't have the piece of paper.

At SDIEA, we can help you work out what job fits for you, and how you get it.

We provide support and services to you on a one to one basis.

Our team work to figure out what success means to you, and to figure out a way for you to get there.

We are a not for profit organisation and we are based in your community, so we know what is happening in the region

People come to us from all over the Southern Downs region. They are mostly between 15 and 65, and are looking to a better handle on their life, get educated and get on their way to a job.

SDIEA is more than training

SDIEA don't just teach programs, we can also help with learning skills, life skills, getting you set up for an interview, introducing you to businesses who are looking for workers, give you a space to work on your job applications and more.

Program length

Our programs vary in length between 12-26 weeks and from a 2 to 5 day per week commitment. Some programs include work placement and others are in classroom.

Fees

Most of our clients are eligible for training as part of the Skilling Queenslanders for Work initiative, which is funded by the State government and covers your fees if you meet eligibility criteria.

Getting started

It is as simple as choosing the program that interests you and getting in touch with us. *Eligibility criteria applies for each program.
